

Lane Williams, AIA

Raised in Yakima, and with a Master's degree from the University of Washington in 1984, Lane began his architectural work in small Seattle firms. Lane's first new home design received the AIA/Seattle Times Home of the Year Award in 1986. He established his own practice in 1992, focusing exclusively on custom, single-family residences. Lane Williams Architects has received two additional Home of the Year Awards, out of nine nominations, three AIA commendation and merit awards, and awards from the Pacific Coast Builder's Conference. His works have been featured in many national and regional publications and highlighted in national and international design blogs and websites.

Lane's remodel experience includes renovation of mid-century modern homes by renowned Seattle architects Al Bumgardner, Paul Hayden Kirk, Ibsen Nelson, and Roland Terry. His work has extended to Oregon, California, Michigan, Texas, and Connecticut. Lane's team includes three other architects, and is based from the studio in his home in Seattle's Queen Anne neighborhood.
